Apache War News.

TUCSON, May 5.—It is generally believed here that the main body of Loco's band has not yet been defeated although the military have had several successful skirmishes with them. The fight and defeat of a band by Gen. Garcia across the line was with the advance body of the hostiles who had come in [illegible] [illegible] Loco's band of warriors numbering over 100 were behind the troops and passed within eight of Galeyville on the 25th ult. Soldiers have started in pursuit of the band which left the vicinity of Galeyville with stolen stock, women and children on the 24th and with whom they had an engagement before they crossed the line. Will [illegible] reports say that Loco with about 125 warriors is now across the line in the Tres Hermanas mountains.

The President's Action Denounced.

TOMBSTONE, May 5.—Great indignation is expressed here over the president's proclamation declaring Arizona in a state of turmoil. Prominent citizens talk of calling an indignation meeting and by voice and resolution denounce the presidential proclamation. Cochise county is in as peaceable a state as any other section of the country and Tombstone is as peaceful a city as there is in the union. It has a perfect police system and efficient officers. Public opinion is unanimous in calling the president's action an outrage.

MEXICO.

The Latest from Mexico.

LORDSBURG, May 4.—The latest reports from Mexico are to the effect that Capt. Tupper and his troops had a second encounter with the Indians on the 1st inst., about forty five miles south of Cloverdale, killing forty Indians and recapturing about 200 head of stock. Tupper lost one killed and one wounded. The town of Galeyville, falsely reported last week as having been burned by Indians, is rapidly being deserted. Merchants and others are moving all stock and effects to San Simeon for safety, though it is believed here that all immediate danger is over. Col. Brady, who left here May [illegible], reached Richmond with his command yesterday morning, having scouted along the Gila valley and over the entire route between here and Richmond. He reports all quiet and no signs of fresh Indian tracks.

Star Route Cases.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Regular proceedings in the case of the United States vs. Brady, Dorsey, Turner and others was begun in criminal court to-day. Brady and Turner were [illegible] defendants present. [illegible] Proceedings were begun with motion to quash by Col. Totten in Turner's case. He said the grounds were substantially the same as those already [illegible] in their case and he asked to have the plea of not guilty withdrawn and have his motion entertained. Col. Totten also presented several [illegible] and proceeded to explain the new points they involve. One motion charges that Turner, who was an officer of the United States, is connected in the same indictment with others who were not U. S. officers and several acts charged are punishable in different degrees in several conflicting statutes. But Judge Wylie said he could not see why a public officer should not conspire with a citizen to defraud the government. The judge denied the motion of defense and noted exceptions. Counsel for defense then filed a number of motions and pleas which the court overruled in bulk and Col. Totten asked to have exceptions noted. Court stated there was no such thing as noting exceptions in a criminal case in the district. They could be recorded with other proceedings of court.

Merrick stated that Jno. W. Dorsey had not been arrested.

Bliss added that in fact Ingersoll had promised him several weeks ago to produce John W. [illegible] [illegible] relying upon this although they [illegible] bench warrant, they had promised not to make themselves unhappy in trying to secure his arrest. Dorsey had not been produced and he wanted to call attention to his violation of truth and said he regarded it as a mere measure of delay.

At this point Ingersoll sprang to his feet and bringing his hat down upon the table exclaimed: "You are a liar, sir—a liar."

Judge Wylie reproved both attorneys in severe language.

Merrick then entered into a long explanation of the circumstances of the agreement between counsel as to Dorsey's appearance and claimed that the statement of Col. Bliss was correct.

Ingersoll, in answer to an inquiry from the court, said he did not deny the facts but he [illegible] that he had been guilty of a trick. He had acted with the most good faith under the conviction that he would be able to produce Dorsey. He supposed when he made the arrangement that he [illegible] [illegible] produce Mr. Dorsey, and wanted [illegible] [illegible] could not.

Merrick then said to [illegible] [illegible] ten days in order that [illegible] an arrest [illegible]

[illegible] then granted an extension [illegible] till May 15th.

Senator Blair's Examination.

The examination of Senator Blair was resumed. Witness refused to state the amount of stock tendered him by Shipherd, and said Blaine did not [illegible] at the first interviews that I appeared there as counsel. He knew I was desirous of [illegible] Shipherd [illegible] asked the secretary if [illegible] [illegible] affair there could be any impropriety in my acting as counsel. He said he could see none. Grant's [illegible] [illegible] witness hoped the committee would [illegible] make personal queries. He had heard Grant's views in various ways but none of his expressions of opinion were discreditable to Grant. On the contrary, the attitude of the state department was never stated any more fully than [illegible] Blaine's instruction given [illegible] Witness [illegible] [illegible] Shipherd had willfully misrepresented him. [illegible] Witness had never put things in so strong a light as Shipherd; a doubtful nature had not [illegible] He didn't hear Blaine say "I don't think that will fetch him," upon the occasion when Shipherd told Blaine he had offered Hurlbut a bribe.

Witness knew nothing of the Arizona letter till it was sent. A number of inquiries were put as to Blair's [illegible] in the case, but nothing was developed except the personal opinion of witness.

Cabinet Meeting.

Cabinet meeting to-day was brief and unimportant. The Chinese bill was really not informally discussed. It will be again considered at next meeting. The Indian question was also considered.

After defending the arrests Forster said: If all England could not govern Parnell let the government acknowledge that he is the greatest power in Ireland [illegible] [illegible] he neither [illegible] [illegible] any weakening concessions were necessary. Better ever hit our secret society than be paying black mail to lawbreakers. This exclamation was received with [illegible] of opposition cheering. Continuing, Forster said the course which he had hoped [illegible] pursued was that the [illegible] strengthening [illegible] [illegible] should be pressed forward and [illegible] all suspects [illegible] released. He feared the price which would have to be paid for immediate diminution of outrages which might be produced by the unconditional release of Parnell would be weakening to the power of any government to protect life and property. It was true his individual opinions of the proper course to pursue were opposed by his thirteen colleagues, one of whom held opinions so strong that it was impossible for him to appear there and not acknowledge them. Forster concluded by referring to the pain with which he quitted the councils of the party, the principles of which he said he had not forsaken. Forster spoke with considerable emotion and Gladstone warmly praised Forster for not compromising the liberal party.

Gladstone declared there was no arrangement or bargain with leaguers but the government had availed themselves of information tendered by men in position to offer it. It was intended at an early moment to legislate on the arrears of rent.

Parnell denied the question of release of himself and others was due to any condition as to their future action, though he said he had stated verbally and in writing that he believed a settlement of arrears would have an enormous effect in restoring law and order, and that if such settlement should be made he would be able to take such steps as would have a material effect to diminish the number of outrages.

Dillon said he had not directly or indirectly any communication with the government.

O'Kelly denied having agreed to any condition, which Gladstone confirmed.

Sir Stafford Northcote complimented Forster on his lucid explanation, and pressed government to [illegible] a definite course of policy. He subsequently moved adjournment of the house.

Sir William Harcourt defended the government. He believed release of suspects would have a good effect.

After speeches from O'Connor Power, Mitchell, Henry, O'Donnell and others, [illegible] conservative member for Dublin university, made a long speech against the government. He maintained the agitation in Ireland was mainly supported by the American [illegible] and [illegible] that with [illegible] American [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Marquis of Hartington rebuked [illegible] for [illegible] supporting Forster while he was in office. He declared the information while [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] was furnished by Earl Cowper and Forster [illegible] [illegible] conduct of Parnell and others was [illegible] hostile to the administration of law and order, but would tend in a contrary direction. The government was therefore [illegible] justified in retaining him [illegible] a single day.

Sir Stafford Northcote withdrew the motion which he had made for adjournment.

Parnell first entered the house while Forster was making his statement and was loudly cheered. The prince of Wales and crown prince of Denmark were in the house while Forster was making his statement.

The Daily News regards the appointment of Lord Cavendish with regret and wonder. It considers a great opportunity has been thrown away.

Earl Cowper's Return.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The Herald's Dublin special says: The lord lieutenant's departure to-day was the [illegible] possible affair. People turned out in [illegible] to see the show but displayed no enthusiasm whatever. Both Earl Cowper and the people appear to be glad to part. His excellency has long felt himself in a false [illegible] position. He never made any headway with the people.

There was an awkward incident at the castle just before the earl's departure. A deputation from the [illegible] headed by the lord mayor presented a farewell address wherein regret was expressed that his excellency's [illegible] [illegible] unfortunately [illegible] identified with the experimental system of government by coercion and imprisonment without trial [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Lord Cowper replied that he considered the coercive measure of government absolutely indispensable and that if they were not [illegible] blame it was because they did not employ them early enough. His excellency went on to say he was glad to escape from the position in which for the last two years with the chief secretary in the cabinet he had virtually been entrusted with the government of the country. The European Dublin castle has given the greatest [illegible]

Suspects in the Naas jail [illegible] [illegible] Forster in their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the threat of the governor to [illegible] [illegible] military.

Notes from Ireland.

DUBLIN, May 5.—There are great rejoicings to-night over the release of Davitt. Torch bearers paraded the streets and effigies of Forster and Gladstone were burned.

Some disturbances occurred in Foxford county May [illegible]. A farmer named McGloreno was fired at but not hit. McGloreno returned the fire and killed his assailant.

The arrest of a man said to be an American citizen in connection with the attempt [illegible] of McGlarrie at Foxford County May [illegible] may lead to a cabinet question.

Davitt will be released Saturday. His liberation was delayed by the non arrival of necessary state documents.

In Ballina during rejoicings for release of suspects a collision occurred between the people and police. A drum was captured by the police. On the crowd retaliating, the police fired, wounding several persons and one is reported dying.

Parnell's Policy.

Correspondence about Suspects.

LONDON, May 4.—The correspondence between Great Britain and the United States on the subject of [illegible] [illegible] the United States [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in Ireland is printed. It consists of a dispatch from Earl Granville to Sir Edward Thornton dated June 2[illegible] 1881, relative to [illegible] [illegible] a dispatch from Sir Edward Thornton to Earl Granville dated June 2[illegible] detailing a conversation with Blaine; a dispatch from Earl Granville [illegible] July [illegible], expressing satisfaction at the views expressed by Blaine, and a dispatch to Earl Granville to West dated April [illegible]. In the latter Granville says: "I think it well to state that Sir Edward Thornton reported to me last summer that he had been confidentially informed by [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Remarks of Representative Men.

LONDON, May 5.—The Herald Friday morning prints special cabled dispatches of interviews with prominent land leaguers and others upon the new Irish policy of the British government. Parnell was found [illegible] house of commons to-night. He said he could not give an opinion till the government declared the full extent of its concessions. He thought the appointment of Cavendish looked badly for the success of Gladstone's plans. He was afraid he was too weak and vacillating. The releasing of Davitt he considered the strongest blow that Gladstone struck.

Labouchere, a liberal, thought the appointment of Cavendish a farce and the new policy likely to produce grave results in Gladstone's party. It would cost it about 17 whigs and dissolution was not impossible though improbable, as the present plan of the opposition would be to form a coalition, the cabinet relying on the aid of the Irish abolition whigs. He thought Gladstone intended to secure the Irish vote but was not willing to pay the necessary price. If the new policy fails Forster is the coming man; if it succeeds he is ruined.

Stirling, a whig, said the new policy would fail. It had no element of success. Cavendish was a bad selection. If half the measures were adopted to [illegible] whigs, Gladstone would lose the support of radicals. If he went long he would lose the whigs. [illegible] he was bound to fall either way. Indeed a large whig party was already organized. The results of the new policy must be very grave. There was no [illegible]

Healy (land leaguer) said the government threw a sprat to catch a mackerel. We got the sprat and they kept the mackerel. We are glad Cavendish is appointed as we [illegible] have to fight Chamberlain, but Cavendish is sure to be such a failure. We [illegible] will [illegible] more quarter than is the government [illegible] [illegible] what it has [illegible] I regard the appointment as the worst possible thing for the liberals. The new policy if carried out will have the effect of [illegible] outrages and evictions and no doubt [illegible] order to a great extent in Ireland. Beyond that [illegible] we are in great uncertainty till we know what new laws will be adopted.

Shaw, one of the strongest men in parliament, said the appointment of Cavendish for the Irish [illegible] could be [illegible] [illegible] He has no doubt it meant a mere overhauling and centralization in Ireland. Since he heard of the weak appointment he had lost all faith in the success of the movement and did not think it would lead to its [illegible], though reorganization might be necessary. He thought Cavendish was selected because he would consent to let the policy fritter away where a man like Chamberlain would insist on carrying it through. He did not believe very deeply in the sincerity of the government. He thought that prisoners were released on account of the enormous pressure from all over the world.

Another dispatch says there is very little excitement in London. Parnell's release is regarded as a master stroke. The land league consider that the government has backed down though they decline to make a declaration of intention. They have the air of men who will demand more concessions.

Special cable from Paris to the Herald gives an interview with Egan, treasurer of the land league. He says the government finding its policy of coercion only increased the number of outrages in Ireland adopted this new policy, which is only a humbug upon the Irish. He adds that the insinuation of the British press that a compromise has been made with the Gladstone government is utterly false and without the least shadow of foundation in fact. He believes the change in the lord lieutenancy and secretaryship will have no effect whatever if the system is [illegible] of late as long as the real government of Ireland remains in the hands of the present minority. [illegible] there will be no weakening, no change of front. Egan has sent £[illegible] to the ladies' land league in Ireland within the past two months. The correspondent says the [illegible] of Egan are shared by such others of prominent Irishmen here whom he has been able to find.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

House.

WASHINGTON, May 5.

House went into committee of the whole on the tariff commission bill.

Kelley of Penn. favored the pending measures in a two and a half hours speech, in which he said he stopped not for want of material, [illegible] but from fatigue and brought it to a close. The first section of the bill was then read. It being understood that debate would only be permitted upon bona fide amendments, Kasson offered amendments providing that the commission shall consist of two senators, three representatives and four civilian experts.

McLane of Maryland gave notice of a resolution for recommittal of the bill with instructions to the ways and means committee to report back a bill repealing internal revenue taxes except the tax on spirits, reimposing [illegible] and reducing the tax on whisky to 50 cents, and 50 cents on malt liquors and tobacco.

The committee then rose and the house took a recess.

Senate.

With a resolution to inquire what money if any has been raised and to whom paid to influence passage of the house bill on distilled spirits in bonds [illegible]

[illegible] court appeals bill was resumed.

After considerable discussion the bill in regard to jurisdiction of the supreme court went over till Monday.

Ohio Temperance Legislation.

Speaker Hodge in adjourning the Ohio legislature made the following remarks which clearly define the position of the republican party in regard to the liquor traffic:

Among the more important measures passed by this general assembly and which [illegible] people in a measure will pass upon at the next election, is the act closing on Sunday all places where intoxicating liquors are sold and the act providing that all who engage in the liquor traffic shall pay a tax to the state. These two measures are the outgrowth of thirty-five years of traffic [illegible] [illegible] tax or license [illegible] by this traffic [illegible] [illegible] houses have been filled with paupers and criminals. That these laws will put upon the statute books a lever [illegible] in their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Business is looking up somewhat in Dayton. Several new buildings have recently gone up and a number of old ones have been remodeled.

John [illegible] of Tualatin precinct is clearing twenty acres of new land. M. Shoffler, in the same vicinity, has hired Chinamen to clear twenty acres, at $7 per acre.

D. I. [illegible] sold a few days since 1⅜ acres of land near Mount Tabor to E. V. [illegible] of Milwaukie for $6600. There is a good dwelling house and a fine orchard on the place.

Dan McAtour, the engineer of the Oswego Iron Works, was painfully but not seriously injured last week by falling from a platform up near the hot blast pipe, which compelled him to keep his room for several days.

The new M. E. Chapel at Glencoe, Washington county, was dedicated on the 30th, the sermon being preached by the editor of the Advocate and the dedication service of April [illegible] being performed by Rev. Wm. Roberts. It is a neat and comfortable building and is clear of debt.

A Middleton, Yamhill county, correspondent says J. H. Olds and others have been prospecting for coal. After some digging they found a bed of it about two feet horizontal width, into which they dug about fourteen inches, but could go no farther on account of water. All concerned feel highly elated, as they think a fortune is within their grasp.

Eastern Oregon.

A new school house 24x40 feet, has just been completed at [illegible], Umatilla county. It will be seated with patent desks.

It is reported that the fruit crop in the vicinity of Weston will be badly injured, if not entirely destroyed by the late frosts.

Frazer & Kyger, the largest cattle buyers in Umatilla, and representatives of the Seabright Brothers, famous cattle kings, started for the east on Sunday. They have 12,000 to 13,000 head of cattle in the collection, 40 to 50 cow boys, with twice as many horses for rounding up purposes.

Track laying is now finished to within fifteen miles of Pendleton, where they have been compelled to stop on account of the bridge at the Meadows not being finished. This will take about two weeks more, when another stretch of six miles of track can be laid, which will reach to the next bridge. After that is completed there will be no obstructions to track laying until they get within one mile of town.

The net indebtedness of Grant county is $20,465, including interest. The sheriff's books show delinquent tax[illegible] to the amount of $18,205. Of this amount $11,343 is for the years from 1872 to 1879, inclusive. This amount is deemed for the most part uncollectable, many against whom it is assessed having died or removed from the county. The books of the county treasurer show an indebtedness to the state of $1992 55. As an offset he has on hand the sum of $410 56, leaving a net indebtedness to the state of $1581 79.

The Waitsburg town election was held May 1st. It was hotly contested. George Kellogg received 47 votes for mayor and W. N. Smith 45. For council men Wm. Fudge, Al. Kinnear and Clint Preston received a majority, with Perry Brune, S. Hardin, Al. Brouillet and M. Harkness tieing, each having received 4 votes. Wm. Fudge was honored with the largest vote, having received the almost unanimous support of all the voters.

The new town of Dixie is situated 12 miles northeasterly of Walla Walla. It will be the terminus of the Dry creek extension of the M. C. F. & M. Co.'s road. There is a fine water power at the town which will be utilized to drive a flouring mill. Surveyor Chapman is busy platting the town, and as soon as he has finished his work the town site proprietor will be ready to sell corner lots. Before fall Dixie will be a thriving village.

Seattle Post Intelligencer: The need of a better road out of town to the south has again been brought before the public by Dan Burns and other active spirits. The Duwamish valley farmers have subscribed $1[illegible], $[illegible] have been given in town, and the commissioners say they are willing to appropriate $2000—making $4000 in all—for a plank road covering a distance of about four miles. There is a greater want of a good road in that district than anywhere else in the county. The cost of the road will be about $[illegible].

HIS HONOR THE MAYOR.

Chicago is as she may well be justly proud of her mayor. She is proud for several reasons, and very good ones, too, of the Hon. Carter H. Harrison. There are but few men in American politics to-day who can show as clear a record or as tenacious [illegible] and notable a career as Mr. Harrison.

Twice has Mr. Harrison been called upon to fill the office of mayor of Chicago with the highest majority vote ever given a democrat in this city [illegible] [illegible] has he filled that office with honor winning the respect and esteem of the people regardless of party.

Mr. Harrison is as yet in the prime of life—his physical qualities being fully equal to his mental capacities, and that is saying a great deal, the only medicine that gentleman ever used being the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. Speaking of that famous remedy, as used by all the great men of the day, Mr. Harrison said: "Rheumatism is about the only ailment that has ever given me any bother and that is now gone where it will bother me no more. In the neighborhood where I live people will have no other medicine for rheumatism or diseases of a similar nature than St. Jacobs Oil.

When I first found myself suffering from the rheumatism my leading thought naturally was to call a physician, but my neighbors all advised me to try St. Jacobs Oil, the Great German Remedy.

I took the advice of my friends who were benefited by the use of St. Jacobs Oil. I procured some of it immediately and—well, the result was that I have been recommending it since. I found it excellent for the rheumatism. I have almost a bottle full of it now at home, and I am morally certain that I have no more rheumatism. The Oil has been used in my family and neighborhood with the remark [illegible] and I think St. Jacobs Oil is an excellent remedy." Such is the experience and such the opinion of his honor the mayor of [illegible] [illegible]

Attempt to Break Jail.

LEWISTON, May 5.—As Deputy Sheriff Sargent went to give the prisoners in the county jail their supper this evening two of them, John Gracey and Charles Lawson, soldiers belonging to Walla Walla garrison, made an assault upon him with intent to make a general delivery. Sargent managed to draw his revolver and struck Gracey a blow on the head, inflicting an ugly wound. Lawson ran for the jail door and Sargent fired a shot after him as he turned the corner, but with no effect. [illegible]

LAW AND JUSTICE.

[illegible] weeks were required by the [illegible] to [illegible] what guilt was [illegible] and [illegible] question [illegible] this [illegible] be [illegible] the red tape [illegible] Never was the [illegible] law and justice better illustrated [illegible] statutes [illegible] of this sort of practical injustice [illegible] Laws designed to shield [illegible] are interpreted to the advantage of the guilty. It is well to have conviction made as difficult as possible while doubt [illegible] but when a door of escape is [illegible] to all classes equally. There can be no doubt that the increasing tendency of the law and the bench to invest technicalities with all the sacredness which surrounds the law itself is an enemy to justice and a curse to all social order. Its practical result is to secure absolute immunity for those who are able to employ the best legal talent and prolong the contest indefinitely. There are limits within which the power of the human brain and the human hand to be perfectly accurate must always be confined. The ablest grammarian cannot write a pamphlet that does not contain one or more grammatical errors. The most expert proof reader overlooks here and there the vagaries of the types. Among the copyists of the monasteries in the middle ages the production of a perfect manuscript was the triumph of a life time. And so if justice is to be made dependent upon the absolute technical accuracy of all legal documents and the observance of every petty legal formula she will soon not only suffer from her traditional blindness, but will be halt and lame as well.

One of the star route cases affords an example of this absurd business. One of the rascals was named in the indictment by his initials only. They were correctly given, there was no possibility of confusion and no doubt of the identity of the accused but the indictment was quashed because his first name was not written in full. Then, it is thought he cannot be indicted over again without renewing the charges against all the others, because he is accused of conspiracy against the government, and one man can no more conspire than "the bird of a feather can flock all by himself." Then, it is said that the others cannot be re-indicted because a second indictment cannot be made while one which has already been held good is still pending; and so it goes on like the story of the house that Jack built. Every step in the process of bringing a lot of known thieves to punishment involves new delays and increased technical embarrassment. It reminds one of the hydra, out of which three heads sprang as soon as one was cut off. Seriously, if this petty fossil-worship of the very lettering and punctuation of a statute shall continue it will soon become impossible to deal with any criminal case graver than of a drunk in the municipal court where the offender is without a friend or a dollar. If infallibility is to be required of official humanity before the law can be executed, then the law is an incumbrance over which society must sooner or later leap, at a cost, perhaps, of a dangerous strain upon all its members. Everybody who read carefully the tremendous bill of exceptions in the Guiteau case, feels very certain that, if they were passed upon point by point with sole reference to the technical perfection of minutiae the punishment of the murderer would be postponed beyond the term of his natural life. And, in general it may be said that it is as difficult to carry any case to completion with a perfect observance of the letter of every form, as to make a needle point which shall disclose no roughnesses under the most powerful microscope. Human justice must be satisfied with the only means granted to humanity.

A law reform is needed which shall, at least restrain this tendency to follow inflexibly the pursuit of the unattainable absolute, if it does not turn the stream in the other direction. And the first and most vulnerable point of attack is this imbecility which requires a man to be discharged if his name is misspelled, or not written exactly as required. Suppose that John Smith commits a murder and is indicted as J. Smith. It would be precisely as reasonable and just to hunt up some other man who signs himself J. Smith, and hang him for the crime which he did not commit, as to discharge John Smith because of a clerical inaccuracy, although the act and his identity are equally indisputable. A few weeks ago Gen. Curtis of New York was prosecuted for an obvious violation of the law governing federal officeholders. But he was named in the document as "Nehemiah," whereas he was baptized as "Newton." Therefore, with that idiotic reverence for red tape which demands the nature of a Swift, all the proceedings were dropped [illegible] there was not another man in the United States to whom the specific charges found by the grand jury could have been, by any possibility, applied. If some clerk affected by that disease for which Richard Grant White has invented a name, some seventeen syllables long, had written "George William" instead of "Nehemiah," then presumably the genial editor of Harper's and the life-long foe of the spoils system would have had to stand a trial for extorting political contributions from government employes. Surely the folly in one case is as great as in the other. The increasing frequency of these technical defeats of justice warns us that a remedy is to be sought. If not, what has the guiltiest criminal to do but to induce some subordinate or clerk to change a single letter in his indictment, and then escape scot free by order of the court. In legislative matters we are rapidly outgrowing the superstition of technicality. It is now, for instance, conceded that, in the case of misprinted ballots at elections, the intention of the voter in giving his suffrage shall be held as valid, if that intention is unmistakable. Our system of justice ought not longer to be a laggard in this reform; and the question here discussed, of an error in indictment, is but one of a legion of technicalities under which astute criminals and pettifogging practitioners flourish and which ought to be denounced and disregarded by the bench.

THE AMERICAN NAVY.

Commander Gorringe, who was here a few months ago with Mr. Villard, and whose very practical suggestions with reference to the bars of the Willamette and Columbia rivers will be remembered, discusses methods of reconstructing the navy in the current number of the North American Review. Commander Gorringe not only knows what he is writing about but knows how to write about it in an intelligible way. While we need not assume that he is infallible and that all his recommendations need to be instantly adopted, it is evident that he has a much clearer idea of what sort of a navy we need than any congressional committee has. His article may be summarized as follows. In the light of recent revelations we can unhesitatingly conclude that no more repairs should be put upon the alleged men-of-war now on the navy list. The United States [illegible] rich and prosperous but no nation was ever [illegible] American men-of-war. When it cost $[illegible] to put a pair of boilers in the Minnesota $728 000 to furnish the Pensacola with machinery $764 000 to provide the [illegible] engines which shortly afterward required repairs to the extent of $412 000 we can understand that the nation that spends money in this way upon its navy is on the high road to bankruptcy. It is unnecessary to ask why repairs to our men-of-war cost so much more than repairs to merchant vessels. We might as well ask why it is that a private citizen can buy a monkey wrench for $2 00 while the navy department, when it buys a precisely similar [illegible] is to pay about $15 000 for [illegible] The simple fact is that the [illegible] the country to [illegible] it [illegible] is added the fact that [illegible] would [illegible] anything further with [illegible]

According to Commander Gorringe [illegible] fighting [illegible] better [illegible] of England [illegible] inferior to those of England, France [illegible] Italy [illegible] that we [illegible] expense all over the globe in order to [illegible] her flag [illegible] South America and [illegible] and if any one was consumed with a desire to see it he could send to New York and buy one at a small expense. It may [illegible] time that the [illegible] admitted things [illegible] port of Marseilles [illegible] the slightest interest in [illegible]

What we need is a fleet of fast ships [illegible] with two or three long range guns each with which the commerce of any nation with whom we may be at war can be destroyed. England will never be deterred from going to war with us through fear of our iron clads but if it were known that we had thirty Alabamas ready to be let loose on British shipping she would be very reluctant to bring such a scourge upon herself. We need not provide ourselves with a single vessel fit to sail in search of British men-of-war in order to fight them but with fast cruisers which could sweep British commerce from the seas and run away from any British man-of-war we would have a really efficient navy.

For the defense of our harbors we do need however vessels with which we can fight. Not iron clads or big unarmored frigates but strong swift rams. The delay on the part of naval authorities all over the world to perceive the vast superiority of rams over guns would be wonderful were it not characteristic. Naval and military men uniformly resist all innovations. They resisted the introduction of shell guns, of rifled muskets and of breech loaders until further resistance became impossible. The steam ram is virtually an intelligent cannon ball—one which can turn and follow an enemy until it hits it. It is also a cannon ball the blow of which—provided the ram is large and is propelled at a high rate of speed—is vastly heavier and more effective than that of any missile which can possibly be propelled from any gun.

If we provide our harbors with rams which are superior in speed to any foreign man of war and which can turn more quickly than can the unwieldy monsters which are the strength of foreign navies we can successfully defend our sea board against any fleet that may be sent to attack us. Commander Gorringe recommends that each ram should be provided with a single gun. This is unnecessary: the mission of a ram is not to defend herself and not to attack with guns but to be herself a missile. The ram should carry as few men as possible—so that in case she is herself sunk little loss of life would follow. She should be armor plated to an extent sufficient to protect her helmsman and should have sufficient water-tight compartments to render her practically unsinkable. Such a vessel, two thousand tons in size moving with a speed of twenty miles an hour and capable of turning with the help of twin screws, within her own length would sink the largest iron clad in the world with almost absolute certainty. Why, then should we spend millions in building unwieldy boxes of guns when, at a comparatively small expense we can supply ourselves with vessels incomparably more efficient than any artillery however carefully protected by turrets or casements? There is but one answer to this question but whether congressmen can perceive it is unfortunately very doubtful.

The bureau of statistics reports the exports in March and in the three months ending with March from all United States to have been, flour reduced to bushels:

	1882	1881
	March
Flour	2 242,212	3 055 399
Wheat	6 292,343	11 024 658
Corn	2 582,736	8 852 97[illegible]
Other grains	220,461	374 770
Total	11,337 772	23 303 097
	Three Months
	1882	1881
Flour	8 181 727	8 925 079
Wheat	18,363 037	37 496 225
Corn	6 660 571	15,901 052
Other grains	586,892	955 880
Total	33 412 227	63 308 135

The exports in March were 52 5 per cent less than last year and for the three months nearly 40 per cent less. In March nearly 50 per cent of the wheat went from San Francisco and Portland, Or., [illegible] from New York and [illegible] per cent from Baltimore. Of the total value of the breadstuffs exports for the three months, 42 5 per cent went from New York, 27 [illegible] by San Francisco, 9 3 by Baltimore, 5 by Boston and 6 per cent by Portland, Or.

A bankruptcy bill—the work of Messrs. McCoid, Humphreys and Manning, and made up from the three pending measures—has been reported in the house. It includes important features of both the Lowell bill and the Bankruptcy bill, known as the equity plan. Judge Lowell's bill provided that farmers, like any other class, might be thrown into bankruptcy upon the non-settlement of a judgment of sixty days' standing. The new bill abolishes this feature in the absence of a fraud, recognizing the fact that farmers do business in a different way from tradesmen, paying their debts two or three times a year when their produce is sent to market. It also provides for no feed officers who will have an opportunity to amass a fortune at the expense of the creditors. It does away with composition meetings, unless the debtor has fifty per cent to offer creditors, one third in cash, in state courts, and that any creditor may bring action to test a claim of another creditor to prove a validity of transfer of property. Altogether the bill is regarded as favorable to small creditors.

The salary of President Grevy of the French republic is $160,000 a year. He lives within it, but Marshal MacMahon when president spent about $200 000 a year. Some narrow minded people think that the president of the American republic who receives less than one third the salary of the French president, is paid too much. The French are a close fisted prudent economical people and they do not think $160 000 a year too much for their chief magistrate who rules over 37 000 000 of souls, but lots of Americans begrudge their president $50 000 a year for managing the public business of 53 000 000 of people. The president's salary should be $100 000 a year. The additional $50 000 could be saved by retrenching 1 or 2 per cent on useless public printing alone. Ten times his salary could indeed be saved by shortening the orders given by the two houses for books which nobody reads and which are nearly all [illegible] waste [illegible]

D Long and his party [illegible] perished miserably in Siberia. [illegible] telegraph reports that Melville [illegible] found their remains [illegible] Lena Delta.

Pretended Honesty of the Virginia Bourbons.

From the Richmond [illegible]

The funders, who have heretofore [illegible] themselves honest before the world as [illegible] invariably voted against the necessary increase of taxes to meet the heavy obligations they [illegible] to pay [illegible] in the house [illegible] for a reduction of the rate of taxation from fifty cents [illegible] $1 to forty cents. The amendment was proposed to the assessment bill by [illegible] of Frederick and all [illegible] the funders voted for it, thus exhibiting a spirit [illegible] which is not willing [illegible] the Riddleberger bill assumes as our just debt.

SATURDAY MORNIN MAY 6, 1882

CITY.

STRONG SODA WATER.—Day before yesterday the proprietor of the Acme saloon, corner of Third and Pine streets, bought some ammonia for cleaning clothes, put it into a soda water bottle and set it under the counter. Next morning when the barkeeper was straightening things up for the day's business and putting the soda water bottles back into boxes to be returned to the manufacturer, he thought it wouldn't do to send back a bottlefull, so he started to drink the ammonia. One swallow sufficed. He then sent for sweet oil, and now makes meals of soup and gruel.

THROWN FROM A HORSE.—About 4 o'clock yesterday morning Joseph McDougal, a farmer living near Scappoose, met with a serious accident by falling from a horse. He had come to Portland on business, and while riding opposite Ainsworth's wharf the horse took fright at a locomotive, and in trying to throw its rider, fell over the embankment and into the pond below. Mr. McDougal fell from the animal striking his left side against the edge of the street planking, breaking two ribs. He was shortly after taken to a physician's office, where proper attention was shown him.

STOLE A SADDLE AND BRIDLE.—Samuel Rushlight alias Samuel Wilkey, a vagrant 14 years old, was arrested yesterday evening on complaint of William Fable, who accuses him of stealing a saddle and bridle belonging to him from an up-town livery stable. His guilt is already established, as the stolen articles were found in a second hand store on Columbia street, where the proprietor said Rushlight had sold them for $1 50. He is confined in the city jail for want of bail.

CONTRACT LET.—Following are the bids for the construction of the new Fourth street bridge, in East Portland, as received by the committee: L. C. Spore, $13 47 per lineal foot; Pacific Bridge Co. $15 75 per foot; M. Bennett, $20 60 per foot. The contract was awarded to Mr. Spore, who will begin work as soon as possible. The structure is to cost in the neighborhood of $6000, independent of that portion which the O. R. & N. Co. will build.

VICIOUS ASSAULT.—Last Monday D. D. McBean, the contractor engaged in getting out stone at Granite Point for the piers of the railroad bridge across Snake river at Ainsworth, had a difficulty with one of his men, who knocked him down with an iron bar, inflicting a severe gash in his head. Mr. McBean was taken to Lewiston for treatment. His assailant fled.—Walla Walla Union.

A WAITER BEATEN.—J. L. Murphy was arrested by Constable Grant Thursday night, on complaint of Lawrence Rusonich, who charges him with assault and battery. The plaintiff is a waiter at a restaurant on Washington street, between Front and First. He was tried in Justice Petrain's court yesterday and fined $10.

RISING.—Snake river has been rising at the rate of twelve inches in twenty-four hours for the last four days. The Columbia at the Cascades is 13 feet 11 inches above low water mark, and the Willamette at this point 11 feet. There is about 22½ feet on St. Helen's bar.

FINED FOR WIFE BEATING.—Lawrence Kuevals was arrested and tried in Justice Davis' court yesterday on a charge of beating his wife. When in court a simple charge of assault was preferred against him, and he was given a light fine.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—Yesterday T. J. O'Connor & Co. sold at auction a lot 50 by 100 on the east side of First street, between Columbia and Clay, to W. W. Spaulding for $6900. The remainder of the property advertised was withdrawn for two weeks.

EAST PORTLAND TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—Miss H. L. Spaulding will be present to address the East Portland Teachers' Association, in the Central building, at 10 o'clock this morning, on the subject of "Merit Marks and Prizes."

WANTS HER CHILD.—Mrs. Josephine Brown, the colored woman, yesterday filed a petition to Judge Stott in the state circuit court for a writ of habeas corpus for the possession of her child, who is now at the Home.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. F. F. Victor, one of the most distinguished of Pacific coast writers, is visiting Oregon after an absence of nearly four years, and will remain a month. While in Portland Mrs. Victor will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Williams.

SUNDAY OREGONIAN.—To-morrow's issue promises to be the best issue so far published. For sale as indicated elsewhere and at the office. Advertisements should be handed in by 10 o'clock P. M.

WILL PARTICIPATE.—Willamette Engine Co., No. 2, have accepted the invitation of the several army posts in this city, to participate in the exercises on Decoration Day.

FINED FOR HIS CRUELTY.—John Hines was arraigned in the police court yesterday on a charge of cruelty to animals. He pleaded guilty and was fined $40 and costs, which he paid.

ELI PERKINS COMING.

Melville G. Landon, "Eli Perkins," the well known journalist and lecturer has written the following characteristic letter to a prominent railroad official:

I want to make a journalistic trip up to Oregon from San Francisco about the 10th of May. I intend to do more writing about Oregon than any journalist has done before. I shall take up every curious thing in your country, and I expect to send about 1,291,066,843 emigrants to you from the east. Now, what will you contribute towards getting a live New York journalist up into Oregon? I know what you will contribute to get me away; but that is another question. Stanford says he will send me over to Ogden any time on his line rather than have me remain in San Francisco over night, and Crocker has begged me to accept a life pass on the Southern Pacific, hoping I may use it and be eventually killed on the train.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, May 5.

Supreme court met at 10 o'clock A. M., full bench being present.

Jas. Lynn app vs Jos. Manauden resp., cause on trial.

Ordered that the court take recess until 1:30 o'clock P. M.

KLICKITAT COUNTY NEWS.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

GOLDENDALE, W. T., May 3.

News items are scarce.

Farmers have just finished putting in an immense crop and we have had a fine shower.

County commissioners are in session. Hon. W. Lair Hill was here Monday and Tuesday and presented application for a ferry license at Rockland. There being two applicants, each was represented by their attorney. Mr. Hill argued the case in a masterly manner.

District court convenes the third Monday in May. Only a few cases are docketed.

Mr. Janich, of Wisconsin, visited this place for the purpose of establishing a bank, which is much needed here.

The board of directors of the Klickitat county fair will meet here Saturday, May 6th, to fix the premium list and programme for the next fair, which is to be held the first week in October.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

Persons passing to the minstrels Wednesday evening were amazed to see fresh strawberries at S. L. Stone's. They were all sold the same evening.

Don't fail to see the "Aldine" parlor set on exhibition this evening in the show windows of F. S. Chadbourne & Co., corner First and Yamhill streets, Portland.

All orders must be accompanied with the cash when sent to Child's Drug Store.

First choice of strawberries and other edibles from 'Frisco at S. L. Stone's. Don't forget.

All the latest sheet music published can be found at Simon Harris' music store.

Candies, the latest, at S. L. Stone's.

Twenty years past and as long hence as we have our health will we continue in business, hoping as heretofore to give our friends and patrons the very best in the market. Our stock of clothing suitable for the spring and summer is complete in every particular. Observe the figures in our window display and remember these figures tally inside. Bring your boys down for a suit. L. & D. Barman, First and Washington. Isaac Barman, manager.

NOTICE.

All parties having installments due for lots purchased in the Brown tract in East Portland, will please pay them to the clerk of the St. Charles Hotel, who is authorized to receive the money and receipt for the same. F. R. BROWN.

THE "ANTE" TOO HIGH.

From the Astorian.

The protean artist that controls the local columns of THE OREGONIAN is as fancifully fertile in fictitious assumption as Joe Emmet. One day he is "The Big Colt Editor," the next the "Circus Editor," the next the "Salmon Editor," and in this last piscatorial character the facetiousness that runs through his make-up, as the streak of ore through the pay rock, stands out in fullest splendor. He says that if any one catches a salmon that weighs 50 pounds or over, by forwarding the weight of the fish and the number of the boat in which the fish was caught, accompanied by the proper affidavit, that THE OREGONIAN will publish the fact. Now that ante makes the game too high for ordinary players; it costs too much to come in. We'll make it 30 pounds, with a limit of 100, and all fish must be accompanied by three smaller ones, not necessarily for publication, but a guarantee of good faith.

[We'll split the difference and allow the fishermen to come in for 40 pounds, and no limit and no little fish as a guarantee.]

AMUSEMENTS.

The minstrels played to another packed house last night, and gave for the first part and the olio, a complete change of programme. The songs and dances of little Flora Walsh were decidedly good and established her as a favorite. The same bill will be given at matinee and to-night

BRIEF MENTION.

Minstrel matinee this afternoon.

Conductor Lindsey, of the Northern Pacific, is in the city.

Children should see little Flora Walsh at to-day's matinee.

The State will sail for San Francisco Monday morning at 9.

The Washington brought over a boat load of Vancouverites to the minstrels last night

The Juvenile Temperance society will meet at the Congregational church at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Divorces were yesterday granted in the cases of Lena Higley against H. H. Higley and Young vs Young.

The barge Wyatchie, with two locomotives for the O. R. & N. Co., was towed to Bonneville yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Loomis, recently from Ohio, will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church both morning and evening to-morrow.

Mr. James L. McCown, foreman of THE OREGONIAN composing rooms, leaves this morning for Waitsburg, W. T., having been called there by the severe illness of his mother.

OPEN TEMPERANCE CONCERT.

The concert for the benefit of the Open Temperance Society will take place in their new hall, Morrison street, between Third and Fourth, this evening. The following excellent programme will be rendered:

IF YOU WANT TO BUY, SELL, OR BORROW money at low rates go to Walter O'Shea, Pawnbroker, 25 Washington street. Persons desiring loans can safely leave their valuables with him, as he is responsible. He is in business in Portland for the last ten years, and has treated persons properly at all times. O'Shea is "Boss" Pawnbroker of Oregon, and don't you forget it.

MILITARY AND PERSONAL.

[Vancouver Independent.]

A dispatch received from Gen. Miles indicates that he will return to headquarters about the 10th instant.

Lt. J. S. Parke, 21st infantry, was registered at the adjutant general's office in Washington on the 1st of April.

Lt. H. H. Benham, 2d U. S. infantry, was reported in Paris, France, April 8th, stopping at No. 4 Rue Tronchet.

The officers of the post have been using dynamite to clear the target range and the roots of stumps this week, and the reports have been numerous and successful.

Lenfy, a soldier sentenced to Alcatraz, on Thursday last managed to get rid of his shackles off and escaped from the cars at Walla Walla. Several shots fired failed to hit him.

Gen. O. O. Howard's name headed the list of 95 officers who signed the petition for compulsory retirement from the army at the age of sixty-two years. Gen. Howard is never in the rear of a progressive movement which it is thought will benefit the army.

Major D. R. Larned, of the pay department, and Capt. A. S. Kimball, of the quartermaster's department, were at headquarters of the department on Saturday, the former to take leave of his many friends before leaving for Fort Coeur d'Alene, and the latter on public business.

Lt. Col. Rodney Smith, deputy paymaster general, arrived last week and relieved Major Evans in his duties as chief paymaster of this department. Gen. Eaton and Major Canby accompanied Col. Smith to headquarters. He will probably take station in Portland.

Major E. D. Baker, quartermaster's department, arrived on the last steamer, and assumed the duties of chief quartermaster on the 1st inst., relieving Gen. Geo. B. Dandy of his duties in that capacity. Major Baker is a son of Col. E. D. Baker, of Oregon, who was killed at the battle of Ball's Bluff in 1862. He is a brother-in-law of Chas. Hopkins, United States marshal for Washington territory.

Private Henry H. Franklin, troop L, first cavalry, the "Christian" correspondent of the New York Witness, who was found guilty of lying and slander by two courts martial at Fort Walla Walla, has been ordered to be dishonorably discharged from the United States service by the general of the army as being an unfit associate for the enlisted men of his regiment, on account of vicious habits and immoral character.

In reference to exchange of stations of regiments the Army and Navy Journal says the last rumor is that, for various reasons, chiefly to save expense, the 4th will exchange with the 21st, instead of going to Arizona, as originally proposed, and the 2d exchange with the 12th, now in Arizona, though this is by no means certain, as strong influences are at work to send the 10th infantry to exchange with the 21st, now on the Pacific.

Gen. Frank Wheaton, colonel 2d infantry, from Fort Coeur d'Alene, and Capt. A. G. Furse, 1st cavalry, from Fort Lapwai, arrived at headquarters on Saturday, as members of the board for the examination of non-commissioned officers, with a view to their promotion to the grade of 2d lieutenant. The board is now in session examining First Sergeant Landers, company F, 21st infantry, and Corporal Foster, troop L, 1st cavalry, the only two candidates who have qualified.

ALLEGED WIT.

A correspondent refers to Oscar Wilde as "a glucose disciple of the beautiful." This is the severest blow glucose has yet received.

Many a man, after marriage, wishes he had one-tenth of the money he had fooled away on other girls, to buy a baby carriage with.

A French waiter recently charged two American travelers $1 50 for half a dozen boiled eggs, not because eggs were scarce, but because Americans were.

"Won't you ladies tell me what you are talking about?" said a fop. "I'm all ears." One of them looked at him sharply, and said: "So you are; you ought never to get your hair cut."

"What part," asked a Sunday school teacher, "of the 'Burial of Sir John Moore' do you like the best?" The boy was thoughtful for a moment and then replied, "Few and short were the prayers he said."

Luminous—First swell: "I never did like 'May'—not nearly so pretty as 'Mary;' wonder they don't change the name of the month to 'Mary'." Second swell: "Clevaw ideaw, by Jove! make awfwlly good to June, you know!"

"When I grow up, I'll be a man, won't I?" asked a little Austin boy of his mother. "Yes, my son; but if you want to be a man you must be industrious at school and learn how to behave yourself." "Why, Mamma, do the lazy boys turn out to be women when they grow up?"

A few days ago a Georgia politician came to Washington in search of an office. Deceived by the flattering promises held out to him, he telegraphed home: "Things are working; will be home in a few days." Not long afterward he telegraphed home: "Things have worked; send me $15 to get home."

Bob Ingersoll's Mistake.

San Francisco Wasp.

The ashes thrown out of Mount Etna recently have been analyzed and found to consist of:

Sin	.24
Burnt hair	.07
Roasted flesh	.15
Damnable opinions	.20
Good intentions	.11
Cinders of lined, rosewood, electroplated metals and screws	.42
Total	1.20

It is thought from this that Colonel Ingersoll is certainly mistaken in one of his most famous doctrines.

JONATHAN MILLS GRADUAL REDUCTION PROCESS.

OVER 500 MACHINES IN USE.

The Degerminator Splits the Wheat and removes the germ and seam impurities perfectly. These Reduction Machines granulate the wheat, without cutting or abrading the bran. Guaranteed to make rounder and larger middlings and a greater per centage; also STRONGER and WHITER FLOUR than any other system in use.

A LIBERAL OFFER TO MILLERS.—Knowing the superiority of the Jonathan Mills Degerminator and Reduction Machines for reducing wheat, we submit the following liberal proposition:

We will set aside the Corrugated Rolls and put our machines in their place at our expense, and without making any other changes, we will guarantee Better Results than are now obtained, in this: that from the same quantity and quality of wheat now used per barrel we will guarantee a larger per centage of Patent Flour of equal quality to that now made; a less per centage of low grade flour, and a Bakers' Flour superior in color and quality to, and worth more money than, the Bakers' Flour now made in the same mills. If we fail to accomplish Better Results as above, we will take out our machines and replace the Rolls, all at our own expense, and, in addition, will forfeit to the miller a cash bonus of $2000 to $10,000, according to the capacity of the mill.

In practical operation at City of Salem Co's Capitol Mills, Salem, Or.

Who Manufacture Four Grades of Flour from our Machines.

A TEST CROWNED BY VICTORY OVER THE ROLLER SYSTEM.

In January, 1880, McDow & Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, bought the Jonathan Mills Reduction Machines and fitted up their "National Mills" therewith, continuing to use these machines for a year and a half. In August last, 1881, they were asked to set out the Reduction Machines and put in the Corrugated Roller Mills, subject to acceptance after trial, and had their mill re-arranged, at considerable expense, by practical men, skilled in the art of roller milling, aided and backed by all the talent and experience of the manufacturers of Roller Mills. After five months' trial McDow & Co. have thrown out the Corrugated Rolls and put the Jonathan Mills Reduction Machines back into their mill, where they are now in use, because the work of the Jonathan Mills Reduction Machines so far excelled that done by the Rolls.

ON TRIAL WITHOUT EXPENSE to the Miller. In any mill where Corrugated Rolls are used for reducing wheat, we will put in our machines in place of the Rolls, furnish all shaftings, pulleys, etc., at our own expense, and let the miller run them on trial for 60 days. If the miller chooses to keep them we will charge him the regular price and the actual cost of making the change. If he prefers to keep the Rolls we will take out the machines and replace the Rolls as before, thus insuring the miller a satisfactory trial in his own mill, and without any expense. ABSENTEEISM IN CONGRESS.

Neglect of Duty—Violation of Law in Drawing Pay—Injury Done by Absenteeism.

New York Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—"I see that Mayor Nolan, of Albany, is in town," remarked one of a group of congressmen last evening.

"Yes," remarked another. "Mike Nolan has a very good thing of it: he is Mayor of Albany, with a salary of $4500 a year, and congressman with a salary of $5600 a year."

A Tribune correspondent who is a daily observer of the proceedings of the house of representatives could not recall that he had ever been present when Nolan was at his post as a legislator, and he therefore supposed that Mr. Nolan had been constantly absent by leave of the house. A careful examination of the Record, however, shows that Mr. Nolan has actually been present in the house several times this session, and his name is recorded on at least four yea and nay votes. Yea and nay votes were, however, recorded on the following dates, and the record shows that on none of these occasions did Mr. Nolan vote: Jan. 17, 24, 25, 26, 30, 31; Feb. 6, 7, 14, 16, 17, 21; March 9, 13, 21. On Feb. 14 the Irish resolutions were voted on and Mr. Nolan's name was not recorded, although he is an Irish-American.

In the "Congressional Directory" Mr. Nolan is described as "the surviving member of the firm of Quinn & Nolan, ale brewers of Albany, and also the president and treasurer of the Beaverwyck Lager Beer-Brewing Company." Nevertheless, on Feb. 6, when his party friends in the house were voting solidly against the passage of the Alcoholic Liquor Commission bill, the record does not show that Mr. Nolan was present. Neither do the official records of the house show that Mr. Nolan has been absent a day since the session began, by leave of the house. He has never taken the trouble to ask, it appears. Probably he has never taken the trouble to read the following section of the revised statutes of the United States.

SEC. 40. The secretary of the senate and sergeant-at-arms of the house, respectively, shall deduct from the monthly payments of each member or delegate the amount of his salary for each day that he has been absent from the senate or house, respectively, unless such member or delegate assigns as the reason for such absence the sickness of himself or some member of his family.

This law has been on the statute-book since the year 1856. A good many other members of the house of representatives besides Mr. Nolan have probably forgotten this law, and especial attention is directed to his case only because it is flagrant. Hardly a day passes without one or more members asking and obtaining leave of absence without assigning any reason. Nobody has yet heard of a member who has suffered any loss of pay on this account. In the first two weeks of this month leave of absence was granted to twenty-one different members, as follows:

Date. April.	Name.	State.	Time.	Reason assigned.
1	Moorey	Ohio	2 weeks	No cause.
1	Willits	Michigan	10 days	No cause.
3	Lacey	Michigan	3 days	No cause.
3	Robinson	New York	3 days	No cause.
4	Atkins	Tennessee	1 week	No cause.
5	Atherton	Ohio	Indefinite	Illness.
6	Chace	Rhode Is'ld	1 week	No cause.

It will be observed that in the last two weeks leaves of absence amounting in the aggregate to 123 days were granted—twenty-one days on account of illness, forty-one on account of important business, and sixty-one without any reasons assigned. If the law were to be observed, pay would be deducted for 102 days, and the government would save about $1560 by the operation. Since the beginning of this session 188 leaves of absence have been granted, averaging about six days each, or 1128 days in all. Probably one-sixth of these have been granted on account of the sickness of the members or their families, leaving, say, 940 days for which strict obedience to the plain requirement of the law above quoted would require pay to be withheld. Should this be done the government would save about $13,000. A good many congressmen who come to Washington, and remain during the session attending to their duties, agree in the opinion that the law should either be enforced or repealed. There is less absenteeism this session than there was in the last congress, but the facts above given show that the forty-seventh congress is far from blameless. Of course the record of leaves of absence granted by the house does not by any means disclose the actual absenteeism, perhaps not even the largest part. When members absent themselves without leave, as many of them do, sometimes for days and weeks together, the official record does not show the fact except on occasions when a "call of the house" is ordered.

THE PAUPER'S SECRET.

The Singular Pride of a Man at the Allegheny City Home.

Pittsburg Post.

In the "short and simple annals of the poor" one often reads of persons who, though reduced to the most wretched poverty, are still as proud in spirit as the haughtiest of autocrats, and possess a delicacy of feeling which could hardly be expected outside of the higher and more refined walks of life. Paupers they may be, but that pride refuses to be crushed. Too sensitive to admit that they are poor, they exert all their powers to hide the fact from the world. This phase of human nature was never more strikingly illustrated than in the life of an aged man, who after a residence of three years in the Allegheny City home left that institution on Saturday forever.

His story is an interesting one. Years ago Thomas Mulaney had a happy home, and managed to support his family in a comfortable way. Many pictures in memory of the domestic happiness of those days now cheer the old man in his declining years. Death finally broke up the family, taking his wife first and all but two of the children afterward. Then darker days came upon him. Losing his corporeal vigor and the increasing infirmities of old age settling down on him he was no longer able to work. One daughter and a son drifted away to distant points and he had no knowledge of their whereabouts. At last, while he was on the verge of starvation, he was taken in charge of by the authorities and sent to the Allegheny home.

This was three years since, and he was then about eighty years of age. About a year ago he learned in some manner that his son was married and living at Cambridge, Mass. He wrote him a letter, carefully concealing, however, his real condition, and the fact that he was in an alms house. This correspondence has been kept up ever since, the son supposing his father to be living on the farm at Montrose P. O. Too proud to ask help, the old man never requested his son to care for him, and too sensitive to admit his poverty, he was very guarded in writing his letters. But his son judged from the letters that he was lonely, and for the past few months has sent urgent invitations for him to remove to Cambridge. His last letter concludes: "I am sorry to hear that you have not yet decided to come to us. I fear you have some reason which keeps you in Allegheny county. I say now, as I always have, my wife and I would be too glad to have you with us, and will care for you well the balance of your life." The son is in good circumstances, and had he had the slightest intimation of his father's condition would have readily sent money for him to make the journey with.

One of the members of the Allegheny poor board interested himself in old Tom, and proposed to the board to furnish him with a railroad ticket to Boston. Some of the members doubted Tom's representations, and asked him for his son's address, so they could write and see if it was all right. He declared he would remain in the poor house all his life, rather than have his son informed of his place of living, and refused to give his address. The poor directors resolved to keep his secret, and last Friday night ordered Maj. Hunker to procure for him transportation to Boston. When this was told to Tom he was the happiest man in the county. Tears of joy and gratitude rolled down his cheeks, and by this time he is with his son. The latter need never know the old man's secret.

This is True.

Indianapolis Journal.

There is "sympathy" for scoundrels everywhere. It is undermining society and making a by-word and mockery of law. It is time there was being developed a little sympathy for honesty, truth virtue, and law.

Monday there was received at the county auditor's office, Walla Walla, only 779 squirrel scalps, whereas four years ago there was paid out upwards of $1000.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—Sterling exchange on London bankers, 60 days, $4 8[illegible]; documentary, $4 84½.

Petroleum—Quiet.

Crude Sperm Oil—Quiet and firm; whale has been active, with sales at 58c.; stocks light.

Hops—Firm, with little demand; sales of choice at 24c.

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, May 4.—There is no movement in the freight market, which remains rather quiet. The Hagerstown will probably be loaded by Saturday and the Charger by the 10th. Rates are still steady, but after the present higher price vessels are gotten off, it is possible rates may be reduced some. Tonnage has been freely offered to arrive and been almost as freely taken by lines. The latest charters are the Flounce, Samaria and Levi C. Wade to load at this port, Enos Soule to load at Boston, in Van Vleck's line, and the Norris to load at Philadelphia. All these were taken on a basis of $8 50 per ton dead weight capacity.

The weather has been against any free movements at wharfs of California vessels, although at the same time the market is not by any means active, and ships fill slowly. The Hagerstown and Charger are leading vessels, and will finish next week. Rates remain about steady at last quotations. Tonnage is still offered more freely and at easier figures, as trans-Atlantic trade is very dull. Railroad freights are fairly active and the aggregate movement is quite large.

New York Market Quotations.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Mining stocks are very dull. Robinson advanced from $2 05 to $2 25, closing at $2 20. South Pacific sold at 25 cents, and State Line Nos. 2 and 3 at 3 cents. Moose advanced to $1 90. Sales at both exchanges, 182,000 shares.

Petroleum is quiet; united, 72½; crude, 6⅜@7⅛; refined, 7¾.

Copper is dull.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, May 5.—There is steady demand for wool and no change in prices for some days. Sales of the week have been 2,100,000 pounds, and include all kinds. Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces are 41@42½c for X and XX, and 43@44c for choice selections. Ohio is scarce and commands as high price as XX. Michigan X has been selling at 41@41½c, and desirable lots of this description are very scarce. Combing and delaine selections are selling at 45@46c. Washed combings are dull and prices of Kentucky and similar grades nominal. In unwashed fleeces there has been a fair business doing, with sales principally at 24@34c for fine and medium grades. California is quiet and prices nominal. A lot of 240,000 pounds defective sold at about 14c. Pulled wools, 46@48c in choice Eastern and Merino. Advices from California and other points continue to quote very high prices for new clip. This is rather a surprise to the trade. In foreign wools there has been further sales of Australian at 45@47½c.

LIFE AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

The Opportunities Mr. Arthur Now Finds for Social Enjoyments.

From Washington Letter to Boston Herald.

A friend of the president, referring to his life at the White House, said a day or two ago that Arthur now had the opportunities for social enjoyment which suited his desires above all things, and that of all men he was fitted to make the most of these opportunities. He has an estate of about $[illegible], a house in New York, and only one child to take care of. He has an income of $50,000 a year as president, and will spend every cent of it. He is laying in a stock of the very finest wines that can be procured, and proposes to give entertainments such as have not been given by his predecessors. A republican senator who was at the president's dinner on Wednesday, says he has dined at state dinners in the executive mansion with every president from Buchanan to Arthur, inclusive of both, and that the dinner this week was the finest in every respect he ever saw there. Nothing is allowed to interfere with the grand round of feasts at the executive mansion, or with Mr. Arthur's engagements to dine out with his friends. A very high officer of the government who labored under the impression that the president had [illegible] special [illegible] him with friends on a certain evening a week ago was said to have been informed by the servant when he went there that Mr. Arthur was out at [illegible] and would not return until [illegible]. [illegible] the Evening Star the following interesting description of how [illegible] time is regulated at the White House. The White House under the present administration is truly a place of business, and is run on thorough business principles. President Arthur has set apart certain days of the week for special purposes, and all the employes know that nothing can be allowed to interfere with the regular work for each day. One day in every week the president has reserved to himself, few people realize the constant strain to which the president is subjected. It is absolutely necessary that he should have some relief from the pressure which is brought to bear upon him from morning until midnight. President Garfield gave himself day and night to the duties of his office, and the constant strain upon his nerves and strength told upon him very apparently even in the short time that he held the office. At first Saturday was the day chosen by President Arthur when he should seclude himself from the crowd of sight-seers and business callers, who daily besiege the White House, but as that day is the one when senators and representatives are most at leisure to look after affairs which necessitate a call upon the president (both houses of congress usually adjourning over that day) he decided upon Monday as "his" day. Tuesdays and Fridays have long been "cabinet days." Members of congress, however, are received on these days from 10 until 12 o'clock. The latter hour is the time for the regular cabinet meeting. Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays are what are known as business days, when those who have business affairs to lay before the president, or who merely wish to see him and shake him by the hand, are received from 11 to 1 o'clock. The president generally breakfasts about 9:30 o'clock, lunches at 2, if the pressure of business allows him, and dines at 7:30 o'clock. About 4 o'clock he goes out driving. During the evening he almost always has a number of callers, either personal friends or officials, with whom he has appointments. When the last caller has departed the president usually devotes several hours to matters which he has set aside to be considered at this time, or which have been crowded over during the press of the day. It is at this time that a decision is reached on many matters of weight, including frequently, important appointments. The rules which have been laid down in the White House are not deviated from except in case of special appointment. In fact, business is done somewhat as it was under the Jackson and Grant regimes.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

Run Away From His Duty.

New York Herald.

The Pennsylvania reformer who was President Garfield's attorney general hurried away from the cabinet without completing some important work that he began and was asked to finish has been freeing his mind about the republican party to a local civil service reform association. For Mr. McVeagh to charge any political party with accepting as principles the vices of some of its placemen is about as sensible as to charge a family with enjoying bad food and dirty rooms when the trouble really is that they have been unfortunate or unwise when selecting a servant, but Mr. MacVeagh's opinion on this subject is of very little consequence to the country. What the people want to know from him is his reason for running away from his duty in the star route cases a few months ago.

A Losing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.—Harrisburg Patriot.

The colony's wool [illegible] with that obtained from the Australian colonies and commands quite as good a price. Vessels coming to America bring cargoes of the colonial produce at rates averaging [illegible] per ton. The present prosperity of these places has been attributed to the discovery of diamond fields some time ago and to the more recent unearthing of the Leydenberg and Pretoria gold fields, these latter mines equaling in richness some of the prominent Australian mines. The announcement of these discoveries had the usual result of drawing forth a strong tide of immigration, and prosperity now reigns, labor being abundant at wages as high as in this city. The steady increase of trade is set forth by the statistics as follows: Imports 1879, $861,796; 1880, $1,695,834; 1881, $2,505,904; exports—1879, $2,394,507; 1880, $2,322,170; 1881, $2 178,076.—Philadelphia Times.

King of the Blood

Is not a "cure-all," it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

THE

Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bowels cured without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult the doctor [illegible]. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office [illegible] Hall. Office Hours: From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.

SEALED TENDERS

FOR

RAILROAD TIES

WILL BE RECEIVED UNTIL 12 M. MAY 15, 1882, for furnishing two hundred and thirty-two thousand (232,000) crossties along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, between Emory and Burrard Inlet, viz:

Twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof shall be delivered at Port Moody station, or at a point on the line of said railway between Port Moody and Pitt River.

Other twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof shall be delivered at Pitt River, or between Pitt River and Kanaka Creek.

Other twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof at Kanaka Creek, or between Kanaka Creek and Stave River.

Other twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof at Stave River, or between Stave River and Hatzic River.

Other forty thousand (40,000) thereof at Hatzic River, or between Hatzic River and Harrison River.

Other twenty-seven thousand (27,000) thereof at Harrison River, or between Harrison River and the lower end of Maria Slough.

Other twenty thousand (20,000) thereof at the lower end of Maria Slough, or between said lower end of Maria Slough and Tunnel "C" of said railway, which tunnel is about 15 miles below Emory's Bar.

Other ten thousand (10,000) thereof at said Tunnel "C," or between said Tunnel "C" and Tunnel "D," which is the tunnel next to and 11 miles below Emory's Bar.

Other fifteen thousand (15,000) thereof at Tunnel "D" aforesaid, or between said Tunnel "D" and Tunnel "E" on said railway.

Other twenty thousand (20,000) thereof at the said Tunnel "E," or between said Tunnel "E" and Emory's Bar, or at Emory's Bar.

All such sleepers or crossties shall be delivered alongside the railway and within fifty feet of the centre line of the track, and shall be piled up so as not to interfere with the work of construction.

The bottom of the pile shall be nearly as practicable on a level with the grade of the railway track; and the said piles shall be so made as to permit of ready inspection and counting; and wherever such piles shall be made near water lines, both of water or rivers, the same shall be placed in such location that the bottom of the pile shall in all events be above the line of high water.

It will be necessary to deliver at least fifteen thousand (15,000) acceptable ties per month from date of entering into contract until completion of same.

Ties must be smoothly hewed or sawed, free from all score marks, and chopped or sawed square at both ends, eight feet long, flatted on two opposite sides to a uniform thickness of six inches, the flatted surface being not less than six inches on either side at the small end, and when sawed they shall be eight inches in width and six inches in depth.

All ties must be of sound timber, full size, and acceptable to the chief engineer of said railway, or they will not be paid for.

Ten per cent. will be reserved upon payment of accepted ties until completion of contract, and ten thousand dollars ($10,000) approved security required before signing contract. The security or securities to be given must be described in the tender. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, Yale, B. C., and endorsed "Tenders for Ties on Contract No. 92."

A. ONDERDONK, Contractor.

AN ATROCIOUS [illegible]

Lord Frederick Cavendish [illegible] Secretary Burke [illegible]

STABBED TO DEATH IN PHOENIX PARK.

[illegible] Excitement [illegible] England and [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Lord Frederick Cavendish [illegible] Ireland, and Earl Spencer [illegible] engaged in the [illegible] o'clock [illegible] Burke [illegible] stabbed [illegible] in the park [illegible] the lodge, when a car [illegible] men, two of whom jumped [illegible] attacked Lord Cavendish [illegible] them both several times [illegible] The victims struggled hard [illegible] separately [illegible] ten paces apart. [illegible] o'clock in the evening. [illegible] The bodies were first discovered [illegible] who were riding bicycles [illegible] gave the alarm to the police. [illegible]

Surgeons soon reached [illegible] were already conveying [illegible] town, where examination [illegible] The upper part of the body [illegible] and presented a ghastly [illegible] further, the surgeons reached [illegible] which was being conveyed [illegible] stretcher. The body of the [illegible] the same dreadful wounds. [illegible] left arm was broken and [illegible] to protect his breast. [illegible] clean. The bodies were taken [illegible] where they will remain [illegible]

The locality of the outrage [illegible] The spot where the [illegible] was found was absolutely [illegible] body lay in a pool of blood [illegible] ately after the act the [illegible] seems to be no clue to the [illegible] the police are using every [illegible] Large quantities of notes [illegible] gold watches were found [illegible] time, showing that the [illegible] Great excitement prevails [illegible] widespread indignation [illegible] lateness of the hour of [illegible] London nothing of the [illegible] among the general public. [illegible]

At London clubs and other [illegible] the news of the assassination [illegible] feeling of stupefaction, [illegible] the bitterest resentment.

The Herald's [illegible]

NEW YORK, May 7.—The [illegible] says: A terrible tragedy [illegible] Lord Frederick Cavendish [illegible] and Thos. Henry Burke [illegible] assassinated in Phoenix [illegible] o'clock. They left the [illegible] walk over to the chief secretary's [illegible] and when within a [illegible] [illegible] they were attacked [illegible] [illegible] Frederick Cavendish [illegible] [illegible] St. Stephen's [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Some members of the house [illegible] theatre and were [illegible] cause of their departure was [illegible] was intense and a proposal [illegible] opera, which was ultimately [illegible] Cavendish only arrived [illegible] with Earl Spencer [illegible] He was present at the [illegible] Dublin castle, and left [illegible] fellow victim, early in the [illegible] some lads riding on bicycles [illegible] and the murderers [illegible] than a minute. More people [illegible] dred yards of the scene of the [illegible] appears to have been [illegible] When the bodies were first [illegible] Cavendish's lips were moving [illegible] speak, but he showed no further [illegible] ness. It is needless to add [illegible] are attributed to fenians, [illegible] conjecture. The assassins [illegible] park on a car, and from all [illegible] encountered their victims [illegible] road. Robbery could not [illegible] nothing on the bodies was [illegible]

Later Reports [illegible]

LONDON, May 7.—A correspondent telegraphs as follows: A gentleman [illegible] about 7 o'clock Saturday [illegible] peculiar build driving [illegible] which contained four [illegible] lows with blackened faces [illegible] hats pulled down in front, [illegible] conceal their features.

The victims of the tragedy [illegible] in the hospital, and just [illegible] the hospital surgeon states [illegible] [illegible] in Burke's body when [illegible]

Telegrams were immediately [illegible] stations in Great Britain [illegible] murder. It has been ascertained [illegible] tary Burke walked from the [illegible] where he got on a car, and [illegible] park [illegible] a gentleman [illegible] and accompanied [illegible] Lord Cavendish [illegible] returned to the city. [illegible] with extreme [illegible] Ireland.

Police are on guard at the [illegible] to prevent interference [illegible]

Details of [illegible]

The New York Herald's [illegible] tails of the tragedy are [illegible] states that while bicycling [illegible] saw about 200 yards from [illegible] a group of men [illegible] they were roughly [illegible] He then saw two men fall [illegible] others jump on a car and drive [illegible] gate, which is in [illegible] They drove at a rapid [illegible] [illegible] description of [illegible] [illegible] Burke and Lord Cavendish [illegible] the main road [illegible] they found the [illegible] of the carriage [illegible] The pathway [illegible] blood.

They informed the police [illegible] what they had seen [illegible] to the scene of the murder [illegible] to the hospital. An examination [illegible] Burke had received several [illegible] the heart, and his throat [illegible] [illegible] across. His clothes [illegible] rated with blood, and the [illegible] been tremendous. His clothes [illegible] his gloves had been torn [illegible] hand bore marks suggestive [illegible] with assailants. Lord Cavendish [illegible] gloves, and had been stabbed [illegible] the chest. One wound was [illegible] and penetrated deeply. [illegible] full occurrence the park, as [illegible] lovely evening, was crowded [illegible]

It is a remarkable fact [illegible] the murder [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] within a few [illegible] the bodies were found [illegible]
